IN-SERVICE INSPECTION OF ELECTRICAL EQUIPMENT (PAT)

What is the In-service Inspection of Electrical Equipment Testing (PAT) Course?

The In-service Inspection of Electrical Equipment (PAT) course is a one day that will set out systems to organise the in-service inspection and testing of theatre electrical equipment and how to comply with the Electricity at Work Regulations.

What does the course cover?

The course will cover topics such as visual inspection and electrical testing; testing periods; record keeping; managing the system of inspection and testing; selection of suitable testing instruments. Following on from the governments Löfstedt Report, the course reflects the widely misunderstood requirement to carry out inspection annually, regardless of equipment, type, usage or environment, and the need to 'risk assess' the requirement for inspections and test. The course also covers the use of hired equipment, examining where responsibilities lie with reference to the hire company and the hirer.
